Dated 22nd May 1896.

The Inspector General of Police in Mysore

Sir,

I have the honor to bring to notice a case of infant marriage, reported to have taken place in the village of Kerlapura in the Arkalgud Taluk. The Amildar on being informed of the circumstance when he visited the village on the 22nd April last, made the necessary enquiries and submitted the papers for orders.

The bride, Timmamma, according to the Copy of the horoscope produced by her father Narappa before the Amildar, is now in her 7th year. She was born, it would appear, on "[illegible] day in the year "[illegible]". The bridegroom, Anantaiya is said to be in his twenty third year.

The bride's father states that the marriage took place on Monday, the second day of the Moon's decline, last Chitra, Corresponding to the 30th March last, but the bridegroom's father Visweswaraiya fixes the date 15 days earlier - that is to say, he names the second day of the Moon's increase in the said month

The former appears to be correct. There is no doubt that the girl was, at the time of marriage, and is still, an infant according to the provisions of the Regulation.

The bridegroom, Anantaiya of course admits the marriage and says that it was arranged by his father.

The Shanbogue and the Patel of the village would have the Amildar believe that they only heard of the marriage about a week before his inquiry. This cannot be true.

According to the date given by the bride's father, the marriage has taken place full eleven and a half months after the Regulation came into operation, but he appears to have pleaded ignorance before the Amildar.

I solicit permission to prosecute the persons concerned.

I have &c

/Signed/ S. Amir Hasan.
Superintendent of Police,
Hassan District.
